FRUIT REPORTED UNHURT BY COLD

Dry Weather and High Winds Save County Fruit Crops from Killing Frost. Ice Formed on Quiet Water Profusion of Buds.

Reports from the Adams County fruit belt Fri. were to the effect that no harm was done the buds by the cold of Thursday night. Ice formed on some still water but there was no real frost to hurt the fruit tree buds which are advanced for beyond the usual stage for this early in the Spring.

One of the principal things that saved the trees from being harmed was that there was so little moisture to freeze. The dry weather of the past month really did much to save the trees from damage when the sudden change for cooler weather came this week, as there was scarcely any moisture to freeze and as a result there was little harm done.

Coupled with the lack of moisture was the fact that there was considerable wind all during the night and this also contributed to keep frost from forming on the buds.

The luxuriant bloom on all fruit trees in parts of the county promises unusually fine crops this Summer of the fruits raised in this section and the orchardists were very apprehensive when they found the mercury dropping lower and lower. They were considerably relieved when the most severe night passed without any damage being apparent.

FEEDS HIS HORSE ON APPLES

George W. Tice, Sr., of Fulton county, has solved the problem of high horse feed. He was short on corn but long on apples and finding his horse was very fond of the fruit, fed him at first a limited quantity and from the first of last September apples have been his regular ration.

He gives the animal a peck at each feed and the horse does not look unlike those that are fed eight ears of corn three times a day, and he is being worked constantly. To Mr. Tice belongs the discovery of a substitute for corn as a feed for horses.

30,000 PACKETS OF SEEDS SENT

To Residents of Adams and York Counties. Government Seeds Declared to be up to the Standard. Carefully Selected.

Congressman D. F. Lafean has distributed 30,000 packets of vegetable and flower seeds, as furnished by the government, among the residents of the boroughs and townships of Adams and York Counties during the past several weeks.

Contrary to a rumor prevalent in some portions of the two counties, the seeds allotted to Congressman Lafean for distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture are all of standard varieties and are grown from the same stock as those used by the most prominent seed dealers in the country. Nearly all of the seed, according to Congressman Lafean, are expressly grown for the government under contract. It is stated, however, that some seed had been purchased from the stock which was on hand when the bids were awarded.

It is the custom of the department to inspect so far as possible the seeds while in the field in a growing state and to test for germination and trueness to type every sample of seed which is purchased for congressional distribution. The germination tests are conducted in the regular seed testing laboratory of the agricultural department and no sample is purchased unless it comes up to the standard of germination.

All seeds which are purchased by Uncle Sam are sampled in bulk and these bulk samples are grown in a testing garden, maintained for the purpose, to determine their trueness to varietal name and to type.

Hon. James Wilson, secretary of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., corroborates the statement that the seeds are of the same grade and same standard varieties as are used by the general seed trade of the United States.

STEEL STRIKERS CALL ON TAFT

Tell President Work at Schwab's
Plant is Unbearable.

Washington, April 8.—Representatives of the striking employees of the Bethlehem Steel company had their meetings before President Taft. David Williams, chairman of the executive committee of the strikers, and John Loughrey, one of the officials, were introduced to the president by Representative A. M. Palmer. The strikers were also accompanied by J. J. Tazelaar and Arthur E. Holder, representing the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Williams told the president that conditions in the steel plant were unbearable; that the employees, who are unorganized, were required to work twelve, fifteen and eighteen hours each day for 9 cents an hour up; that the strike was precipitated by the dismissal of three men who refused to work on Sunday for almost nothing; that American laborers were consistently and persistently discriminated against in favor of foreigners; that the steel people imported foreign labor in violation of the immigration laws; that Charles M. Schwab had compelled local business men to take his side of the case by threatening to shut down his works altogether; that he had declared it had cost him $1,000,000 to get the contracts for the construction of battleships for the Argentine Republic, and that, while American workmen had no prejudice against the foreigners, they did not feel that American ships and other material should be built with foreign labor employed to the discrimination and detriment of Americans.

The president asked the strikers to submit their case to him in writing so that he could give it formal consideration.

DEMOCRATS FOR HARMONY
Pennsylvania Convention Will Meet at Allentown June 15.
Harrisburg, Pa., April 8.—A complete reorganization of the Democratic party throughout the state, a determination to have the delegates chosen at the primary election stand by their pre-election promises, and a gubernatorial convention to be held at Allentown on June 15, were decided upon at the special meeting of the central and executive Democratic state committee.

It was one of the most harmonious meetings held in the past fifteen years. The session, attended by delegates from sixty-two counties, was held in the board of trade rooms and was presided over by State Senator Arthur G. Dewalt.

Invalid Woman Had Built Up Estate by Investing $200,000.
Boston, April 8.—Miss Martha R. Hunt, eighty-seven years old, of Somerville, an invalid for forty years, died March 15, after having increased an estate of $200,000 left her by her father in 1856 to more than $900,000. Her will leaves $100,000 to relatives and friends and $800,000 in public bequests.

The remarkable increase in the invalid's estate was due to her sagacity in investing in town and city loans and conservative railroad bonds.

Embryo Bankers Jailed.
Covington, Ky., April 8.—Three youths, each less than twenty years old, were taken to the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., to serve sentences of a year each for a fraudulent banking scheme which they conducted in the little mountain town of Orr, Ky. By means of their "bank" they obtained credit.

POLITICIANS SEEK MACVEAGH'S HEAD

Efforts Being Made to Force
Secretary to Resign.

REFUSES TO "HARMONIZE"

Republican Politicians Displeased at Business Methods of Treasury Department and Loss of Fat Jobs For Constituents.

Washington, April 8.—Strong political pressure will soon be brought to bear on the administration in an effort to dislodge Franklin MacVeagh, of Illinois, from his place at the head of the treasury department.

Certain Republican leaders in the house and in the senate did not approve when Mr. MacVeagh was named for the treasury portfolio and they have never been reconciled to the appointment. Murmurs are heard on Capitol Hill that Secretary MacVeagh refuses "to harmonize in a political way" with supporters of the administration. Mr. Taft has heard of the complaints made against his secretary of the treasury. It is said among other things that Secretary MacVeagh in selecting his assistants has not consulted party leaders.

The charge is made that as a Democrat he can never be brought around to the belief that on certain occasions he had turned a trick or two for the good of the party. In support of this contention it is pointed out that Mr. MacVeagh named as the assistant secretary in charge of customs at Boston a man who has not administered the tariff law in the spirit in which some Republicans say it was written.

In other words, Secretary MacVeagh has shown a disposition to conduct his department along business lines without regard to the wishes of party leaders. While the tariff bill was under consideration Mr. MacVeagh came under the displeasure of Republican leaders by making a speech in which he declared the party was committed to lower duties. This angered many Republican leaders, who take occasion to express the belief that some one should be placed at the head of the treasury more in harmony with Republican principles.

Friends of Secretary MacVeagh in Washington admit that efforts are being made to bring about a situation whereby Mr. MacVeagh may deem it advisable to retire. They say Secretary MacVeagh entered on his service in the treasury with a determination to administer that department in a business way without regard to the wishes of politicians. He has done so, and apparently there is the rub.

LORD KITCHENER VISITS U. S.

Noted British Field Marshal Refuses Official Recognition.

San Francisco, Cal., April 8.—Traveling as a private citizen on a sight-seeing tour and carefully avoiding any official recognition, Field Marshal Lord Kitchener, of the British army, landed from the steamship Mariposa. He reached port from Australia, where he has just completed preparatory steps for reorganizing the British colonial forces along the lines recently laid down in India.

The usual courtesies were extended to Lord Kitchener by the collector of the port, and his baggage came ashore unmolested by the customs officials. General Barry, commanding the department of California, called informally on Lord Kitchener at the hotel.

Lord Kitchener attended a banquet given in honor of Rear Admiral S. B. Lee, at which Governor Gillett presided. All civic bodies and the military and naval fraternities of the city have been informed that Lord Kitchener will not accept honors or receptions due his rank, and nothing of the kind will mark his visit. He is on his way to Canada, but his itinerary has not been made public.

SAVED FROM BURNING SHIP

Nearly a Thousand Panic Stricken Passengers Safely Transferred.

London, April 8.—With nearly 1000 people on board the steamer Cairnrona, from London for Portland, Me., caught fire in the English Channel. There was a panic among the passengers, who were chiefly Russian emigrants, and escape from a great tragedy was only due to the officers and crew forcibly holding the terrified passengers under control. A child was killed and several persons were injured by explosions. The Cairnrona was off Beachy Head when one of her boilers burst. Her bunkers caught fire. Several women, some nursing children, were sitting on a hatch on deck, when a violent explosion blew off the hatch, hurling the women and children in all directions. Some were badly hurt and a baby was killed outright by falling on the iron deck.

Panic immediately seized the passengers, men and women running frantically about the deck, gesticulating, jabbering and screaming. The officers vainly tried to calm them. A thick black smoke poured out of the hold in volumes. The officers immediately signalled for help, and the passengers were taken off by passing steamers.

BOY KIDNAPPED, OR PRETENDS TO BE

Demand For $1000 Ransom
Resembles His Writing.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 8.—Elmer Cole, a twelve-year-old boy of Dunmore, near here, is either held captive by kidnapers in this city or vicinity or he is pretending that he was kidnapped and is being held for a ransom of $1000. He disappeared on Tuesday afternoon when he was sent to a store near his home, and Thursday his father got a postal card which said: "Mr. Cole—We will give you your son if you pay us one thousand dollars."

This was signed "Herman Shults" and had been mailed in this city. It was the first intimation the boy's parents had that he might have been kidnapped, as they believed that he had either run away or been lost.

The police, who had been searching for him as a lost boy, were at once notified, and the search came on to this city. The police here believe that the boy is held by kidnapers, and they are making a careful search here and have requested the police of nearby towns to join in looking for the youngster.

The boy's mother came here to aid the police in the search, while the father remains at home eagerly looking for more communications. Mrs. Cole says that the writing on the postal card resembles that of her son, but she believes that he was compelled to write it. She does not believe that he has run away. Nevertheless, she and the police are taking every precaution and are now conducting a search of amusement places where a boy of his age might be found.

LETTER DEMANDS $2000

Wilmington, Del., April 8.—Henry Vandever, of the Vandever Sporting Goods company, which has a store and offices on Market street, received a "Black Hand" letter demanding that he place $2000 at a spot designated near Eleventh and Franklin streets before Saturday night on a threat of death or "terrible injury."

The writer declares he will carry it out to the letter unless the money is placed at the designated spot. Mr. Vandever says he will not deposit the money and he has notified the police and the postal authorities of the misdeed. The letter is signed "Black Hand" with the menacing device.

How to Prevent Gray Hair.

When gray hairs first begin to appear, prompt action should be taken to nourish the scalp and prevent their further spread. Regular brushing, massage of the scalp and occasional shampooing help to prolong the vitality of the hair and preserve its natural color. But it is absolutely essential that these methods be assisted with some form of vital nourishment which the decaying roots of the hair can absorb. Numerous preparations for this purpose have appeared on the market during the past twenty years, but many of them have proved more harmful than otherwise. It is now agreed by competent authorities and those who have put it to the severest tests that HAY'S HAIR HEALTH is the safest and most effective preparation for restoring prematurely gray hair, and furnishing the right food to the scalp. Its constantly increasing sale and the fact that it has held its great popularity for nearly a quarter of a century is proof that this scientific preparation does the work to the entire satisfaction of users. All reliable druggists recommend it and sell it in 20 cent and 50 cent bottles. It can be purchased from the manufacturer, Phil Hay Specialties Co., Newark, N. J. U. S. A.

Constipation Cure Free

With the first signs of constipation you resort to the home methods of relief, such as hot or cold water on arising, lots of stewed fruit with your breakfast, etc., but what do you do when these fail?

The majority then start on salts and purgative waters, then change to cathartic pills, etc. If you have gone through these various stages you know they were all useless, so far as permanent results go. Now you should try just once again, but try something practical and sensible, a remedy made and intended for the purpose you are trying to accomplish. Such a remedy, as thousands can testify, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is guaranteed to be permanent in its results. Its ingredients are such that by a brief use of it the stomach and bowels are trained to again do their work normally, so that in the end you can do away with medicines of all kinds. That it will do this Mr. G. Y. Dodson of Staunton, Va., will gladly attest, and so will Mrs. S. A. Hampton of Portage, O.

To those who are still skeptical there is a way to prove these assertions without a penny of expense. Simply send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and obtain a free sample bottle. After using it, if you are then convinced it is the remedy you need, buy a fifty-cent or one-dollar bottle of your druggist and continue to use it for a brief time until cured. The directions are simple and the dose is small. It is pleasant to the taste, does not gripe and is promptly effective, and these statements are guaranteed or money will be refunded.

This remedy is over a quarter of a century old and is personally taken by more druggists than any other similar remedy on the American market. Because of its effectiveness, purity and pleasant taste it is the ideal laxative remedy for children, women and old folks generally. Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 521 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Nervous Collapse

"I have traveled for thirty years continually. I lost a great deal of sleep, which together with constant worry left me in such a nervous state that finally, after having two collapses of nervous prostration, I was obliged to give up traveling altogether. I doctored continually but with no relief. Dr. Miles' Nervine came to my rescue—I cannot describe the suffering which this Nervine saved me. Whenever I am particularly nervous a few doses relieve me." A. G. C. LIBBY, Wells, Me.

There are many nervous wrecks. There is nervous prostration of the stomach, of the bowels, and other organs. The brain, the kidneys, the liver, the nerve centers are all exhausted. There is but one thing to do—build up the nervous system by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system restores normal action to the organs, and when they all work in harmony, health is assured. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

BLOW AT HIGH COST OF LIVING

Bill in Senate to Limit Cold Storage to One Year.

PLAN FOR NATIONAL PROBE

Senate Committee That Investigated High Cost of Living Ask to Continue It and Make It Countrywide.

Washington, April 8.—The senate committee, headed by Senator Lodge, has offered a remedy for the present high cost of living.

This is, in short, to set a time limit on cold storage, the limit to be a year. After that, food in storage is to be considered as adulterated and to come under the provisions and prohibitions of the pure food act.

Such a treatment of the matter, it is held, will bring it under the control of the federal government, and not limit the latter's authority, as the investigation conducted during the winter at the instance of Congressman Hampton Moore limited it to the District of Columbia and the territories.

For National Jurisdiction.

The nation already has jurisdiction over the great packing houses. The proposed measure would give it jurisdiction over the cold storage warehouses through which their food product passes.

The remedy proposed is believed to set up a milestone in the history of public regulation of organized wealth in behalf of the common people.

Cold storage has done wonders in steadying the market for perishable goods, so that such commodities as eggs should not be for sale in the spring at quantities impossible to consume and as prices ruinous to the producer.

It has resulted in widening the market for various food products and stretching the season for them over the entire year.

But it has also made the producer partially independent of the laws of supply and demand. It has been the basis of corners in meats and dairy products. The Lodge committee has wisely struck at its abuses.

Immensity of the Business.

It is an immense business over which the government proposes to stretch the arm of regulation.

According to a cold storage paper, there are 636 cold storage plants in the country, and the annual value of stored foods is: Meats, $1,500,000,000; flours, $325,000,000; dairy products, $100,000,000; fruits, $50,000,000; fish, $25,000,000; poultry, dried fruit, nuts, vegetables, etc., $500,000,000, or a total of $2,500,000,000.

It is declared, whether falsely or not, that there are now in cold storage 14,000,000 hives, 6,000,000 calves, 25,000,000 sheep and lambs and 50,000,000 hogs.

Through Mr. Lodge the committee also asked the senate for instructions as to continuing its investigation and submitted a tentative plan of work.

It is estimated that four months will be required to complete the work and that it will cost $65,000.

Suggested Plan of Investigation.

The plan suggested calls for statements to be obtained from forty buyers in selected localities covering the price paid to the producer on the 1st of January, February, March, April, May and June of each year from 1900 to 1910 inclusive for all grains, live stock and other farm products.

Retail prices paid by the consumer on seventy-one articles would be obtained covering the same periods as prescribed for producers' prices.

This list is intended to include all articles covered by the senate resolution, excepting for rent, for which the committee says it seems impossible to obtain trustworthy comparative figures.

The committee says retail prices should be secured from four establishments in each of the twenty selected cities, and that the stores should be those patronized by wage earners.

An investigation would be made of wages, salaries and hours of labor from payrolls for a selected period in 1900 and 1910, from at least ten establishments in a long list of diversified manufactures and in at least ten cities, covering department stores, street railways, telegraph companies and telephone companies, and in ten cities the union scale and the non-union wage for building trades, compositors, dock hands, iron molders and machinists.

To Withdraw Marines From Panama.

Washington, April 8.—The navy department will withdraw within the next few weeks a force of about 800 marines from the isthmus of Panama: 600 will sail from Cristobal on the transport Prairie. Four hundred of them will be landed at the marine officers' school at Port Royal, S. C., and the remaining 200 will go to League Island yard at Philadelphia.

Sibley Recovers Sight.

Washington, April 8.—Former Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, left for New York. Mr. Sibley has been in a hospital here for nearly a month having cataracts removed from his eyes. He has been assured the danger of loss of sight is over.

$100, REWARD $100,

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ## MUST CONSIDER ROOSEVELT SERIOUSLY

Watterson Says He is Most Startling Figure in World.

Louisville, Ky., April 8.—In an editorial in the Courier Journal, headed "Whither," Henry Watterson says:

"The time has come for the people of the United States to consider Theodore Roosevelt as they have never considered him before, to take him more seriously than they have ever taken him, to realize that he is altogether the most startling figure who has appeared in the world since Napoleon Bonaparte, a circumstance not without significance and portent. He must be a poor American whose heart does not glow with pride at the unwonted honors bestowed upon this representative of his country and swell with exultant admiration at the splendid way he is carrying himself."

"It is too late, if it were not personally offensive, to talk about self-exploitation. Taken in connection with what appears to be the hopeless breakdown of the Taft administration, it constitutes an event of the first consequence. Before we get into the acrimonies of party conflict, the Courier Journal asks its contemporaries throughout the country to reflect with open passion or levity, and to answer to themselves, amid the blaze of light which casts an aureole about our wandering Ulysses, whether representative government in America is a fallure and whether the only cure for the evils which are admitted is the one man power, because they may be sure the return of Roosevelt to power will be so constrained by Europe, and that on this account the demonstration of monarchism has its chief significance."

PAIR LONG DEAD

Apparently Killed by Coal Gas Two Weeks Ago.

Newark, N. J., April 8.—Peter L. Hessler, a middle-aged man, and a woman known as Mrs. Murphy, about thirty-five years old, were found dead in Hessler's rooms on the fourth floor of a tenement house at 17 Coe's place. It is believed they have been dead for two weeks. The cause of their death has yet to be discovered, and County Physician McKenzie is making an investigation. There is no gas in the house, the tenants using kerosene lamps to illuminate their rooms. There is a small stove in one of the three rooms occupied by Hessler, and there is a possibility that escaping coal gas caused the death of the pair.

ROOSEVELTS GO OVER BRIDAL TRIP

Begin Drive Made as Bride and Bridegroom.

TO STOP AT LITTLE INNS

Will Visit the Old Roman Towns and Enjoy Seclusion Throughout the Entire Trip—Both in Excellent Health.

Spezia, Italy, April 8.—Former President and Mrs. Roosevelt began the carriage drive along the sunny slopes of the Ligurian Alps, the road they followed as bride and bridegroom twenty-four years ago. The day was as beautiful as could be wished. They expect to reach Genoa late on Saturday.

A carriage was in waiting when the Roosevelts arrived here by train from Rome. Within a few minutes their baggage had been transferred and no time was lost in making the start. A little group of Italians, who, with bared heads, watched the two from a respectful distance, was rewarded with nods and smiles.

As they drove away Colonel Roosevelt looked back and waved his hand in farewell. Both Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt appeared in excellent health and rare good spirits.

Stops will be made at the little taverns in the old Roman towns that are perched picturesquely on the summits of the foothills. Colonel Roosevelt's request to the Italian as well as the American correspondents that he and Mrs. Roosevelt be allowed to enjoy seclusion throughout the drive, will be observed.

On the evening of April 12 the Roosevelts will leave Porto Maurizio for Vienna, stopping at the city of Venice for a day.

POPE EXPRESSES REGRETS

Sorry He Did Not See Roosevelt, But Is Silent on Controversy.

Rome, April 8.—Some of the prominent ecclesiastics who were received by the pope managed to introduce the subject of the Roosevelt incident. To these the pontiff expressed the deepest regret that he had been prevented from meeting and speaking with the former president. He gave utterance to no opinion regarding the negotiation or the deadlock that followed.

The incident continues to be a live topic of popular discussion and is emphasized by what the Liberal press calls the "new mistake" of Cardinal Merry del Val. These papers declare that the papal secretary of state had prevented the Choral Society of Cologne being received by the pope because the society visited the Quirinal and sang before the Italian sovereigns, in spite of the fact that every year hundreds of persons are received by King Victor Emmanuel and afterward are admitted to the presence of his holiness.

The Messagero says:

"Within a few days Cardinal Merry del Val has shown discourtesies to the most beloved American citizen and to a gathering of the most beloved persons of Germany, and indirectly to the king of Italy. As long as this young and audacious Spanish cardinal dominates the Leonine City the Italian Liberals must be on their guard."

At the Vatican it was denied officially that a papal audience had been refused to the German singers. It was said that the members of the Cologne Choral Union had left the city before an audience could be arranged.

SEES CONGRESS CHEERSONS

Mother Sees Republican "Boy" Introduce Democratic Son to Speaker.

Washington, April 8.—The Democrats of the house indulged in a noisy demonstration when Eugene N. Pess, of Massachusetts, Democrat, was escorted by his brother, Representative Pess, of Illinois, Republican, to the speaker's desk in order that the oath of office might be administered to the new member, who succeeds the late Mr. Lovering, Republican.

Republicans remained in their seats quietly as the Democrats arose applauding and cheering. On the front row of the speaker's gallery a sweet faced old lady joined in the applause. She was the mother of the two "boys" who were the center of attraction. Her daughters-in-law sat on either side of her and joined in the demonstration.

In no other case do brothers occupy seats on the floor of the house, and never before have brothers of opposite political faith been members at the same time.

Fear Plot to Kill Regent of China.

Pekin, April 8.—The government proposes to form an uninhabited zone about the regent's residence because of the finding of bombs recently in the palace. Many revolutionists have been arrested. The Chinese officials are panicky, but silent.

C. W. Weaver & Son C. W. Weaver & Son

It gives us great pleasure to announce our Silver Anniversary, of beginning business in Gettysburg.

Just twenty-five years ago we opened up business here in a little E shaped room—23 x 38 the centre of the E almost cutting the room into two; this building being built for County Offices many years before.

We put forth certain aggressive methods which gave us a prestige from the start—and the little store soon became too small, so it was torn down and a larger and more modern one built. We then had more than twice the space with which we began, but in a few years that too became too small for our increasing business and an addition was made which more than doubled the size again, that in its turn became too small, and by the acquisition of property adjoining we again enlarged so that now we have the largest store in Adams county—doing more than double the business of any other. We therefore, INAUGURATE A SILVER ANNIVERSARY SALE to commemorate our achievements for the past, and as an earnest of what can be expected from us for the future.

Our stock, NOW LARGER in most lines than ever before, was contracted for at prices that will enable us to offer it at much and beside—we are making many

THE STRAWBERRY BED.

In view of the fact that strawberries are among the most delicious of the garden fruits it seems strange that more folks do not have a patch to supply the family table and, if the bed does well, to sell to the neighbors. The plants should be set in rows from two and one-half to three and one-half feet apart, depending upon whether the hill or row system of culture is followed, while the plants should be set while there is sufficient moisture in the ground, should be given frequent cultivation and kept free from weeds and watered if the rainfall is not sufficient. If the plants are not set while there is sufficient moisture, the plants should be set while there is sufficient moisture in the ground, should be given frequent cultivation and kept free from weeds and watered if the rainfall is not sufficient. If the plants are not set while there is sufficient moisture, the plants should be set while there is sufficient moisture in the ground, should be given frequent cultivation and kept free from weeds and watered if the rainfall is not sufficient.

IF YOU HAVEN'T TRIED THE GREAT ROOT JUICE

Ask Your Friends Who Have.

Root Juice has made so many wonderful cures all over the state and has done so much good here that any sensible person, after investigating, will be convinced of its great merit. If you suffer with your stomach, liver, kidneys or nerves or any trouble created by a weakened or diseased condition of these organs, Root Juice is the very remedy you need. It absolutely removes the cause of bloating, belching, constipation, heartburn, sick headache, backache and rheumatism. They will tell you all about it at the People's drug store. It is one dollar a bottle, or three bottles for two dollars and a half.

SOME FALSE ECONOMIES.

Some of the worst blunders that are made by tillers of the soil and those engaged in animal husbandry are the result of practicing shortsighted initial economies—the attempt to save in first cost followed by increased losses later on. To this class of economies belong the purchase of scrub or cheap grade sires for the dairy or beef herds, the use of poor seed on high priced land when good seed costing a half more would give three times the crop return, the use of worn-out and dilapidated machinery and tools when money would be made by the use of those new and up to date, the plodding along in the same old rut in the dairy without Babcock tester or cream separator when money could be made by the use of both, the refusal to buy a manure spreader or other labor saving devices which would make possible a maximum utilization of the various farm resources and, lastly, the use of the old, played out fuel wasting stove and furnace when the new would do vastly better work at a minimum consumption of fuel.

This is but a partial list of false economies, but enough have been mentioned to suggest a profitable line of thought. This fault may be summarized in the statement that the trouble lies in holding the copper or nickel so close to one's eye that it ruins one's perspective of the real value of things and obscures the distant dollar or eagle that might be made were a more intelligent and enlightened policy adopted.

SOME SILO ADVANTAGES.

In many sections of the corn belt during the past few months corn has not only spoiled from being left in the field as a result of heavy snows, which made husking impossible, but considerable quantities of that which was cribbed also spoiled because it was not properly dried out when stored. But that corn which was cut in season and put in the silo was safe not only from frost damage, but from possibility of rot and mildew as well. There ought to be a suggestion in this all too general situation for the farmer who would combine the best intelligence with brawn in his farming operations. There is no debating the question that the silo offers both the safest and the most economical method for handling this great cereal staple of the country. It is none too early now to begin making plans for a silo if one contemplates installing one next fall, as a study of plans and types of silos should be made, while a visit to several farms where they are in successful operation, coupled with inquiries made of the owners as to their experience with them, would be time very well spent. The greatest agricultural leak in the country today is the result of the present careless methods of handling the corn crop. The use of the silo offers the best way out.

A Tart Answer.

The Rev. John McNeill was holding a revival service at Cardiff, Wales, and announced that he would answer any question about the Bible. At once a note was sent up to him reading as follows:

"Dear Mr. McNeill—If you are seeking to help young men, kindly tell me who was Cain's wife."

That seemed a poser, and the audience waited with intense interest, tempered with amusement, to see how the good man would extricate himself. After a pause he said:

"I love young men, especially young inquirers for light, and I would give this young man a word of advice. It is this: Don't lose your son's salvation looking after other people's wives."

AN ADVERTISING SCHEME

By ARCHIBALD SPOFFARD.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"The fact is, Paul," said the head of the firm of Greenaway & Co., "there's not much chance for you here. Our goods are sold exclusively on advertisement. All we have to do is to deliver them on whatever demand there is for them, and I can get men to ship goods and keep accounts for comparatively small compensation. However, I'll admit you've served me well. I'll pay the expenses of your trip."

"Thank you for the funds, uncle. I'll take the trip."

Paul Greenaway was at a crisis in his affairs. It was necessary for him to be something better than a mere shipping clerk in his uncle's office. The occasion of this necessity was that he had fallen in love with Mollie Edwards. He couldn't support her on what he was getting with Greenaway & Co. They would pay him no more, and he must either give up Mollie or invent some plan to make more money. What he desired was to think out a plan for increasing the sales of Greenaway's soap. By effecting that purpose he might go back with his uncle on his return to a very different position from the one he was leaving.

Mollie kissed him goodbye, bidding him be of good cheer, and he went aboard the steamer Arago that was to take him to England.

The second or third night out, while quietly sleeping in his berth, Paul was awakened by a shock. He listened. The machinery stopped. He heard the sounds of men running on the decks above and a confusion of orders. Putting on some clothing, he ran out into the saloon and thence up the companionway. Outside there was a dense fog. Then he knew there had been a collision.

One party under direction of the first mate was lowering the boats; another under the captain was endeavoring to pass a sail down over the port bow to cover a hole that had been rammed there by another vessel.

When morning dawned an east wind sprang up, the fog cleared, but the ship that had done the ramming was nowhere to be seen. But something more terrifying was plainly visible—the Newfoundland coast, on to which the Arago was drifting.

Two dangers threatened the ship—the one that she would go ashore, the other that she would sink. If her bow could be raised so as to lift the hole, into which, despite the covering sail, the water was pouring, above the surface she could steam away from the coast. In order to accomplish this result the captain ordered the freight stored forward thrown overboard.

Men who are born to do great things must be endowed with the faculty of ignoring danger and being able to think quickly at critical moments. Paul Greenaway turned out to be such a man. When he saw boxes going over, many of which floated, he ran down the companionway to the engine room. There he espied a pot of red paint. Snatching a can in the engineer's hand, he seized the paint pot—there was a brush in it—ran back on deck and began to paint on the boxes that were being thrown over. "Use Greenaway's Soap."

The first impulse of the captain on seeing the young man at this work was to hurl an imprecation at him; but, seeing that the coolness displayed restored confidence to the passengers, he changed his mind. Paul continued to paint his advertisements on every box or ball that was likely to float, and the ocean was strewn with messages in bright red paint, all driven by the wind toward the shore.

By the time the vessel's bow was sufficiently lightened to raise the hole above the surface she had drifted to within a couple of miles of land. Paul went to the captain and offered him all the money he had with him if he would put him ashore. The captain declined the offer. Then Paul begged him to give him a boat and let him go ashore himself. The captain, appreciative of the effect of Paul's coolness in calming the passengers, consented. A boat was lowered, with provisions in her in case the wind should suddenly change and she should be driven out to sea. Paul was lowered in the boat and pulled for the shore. The waves were rolling and high, and in time the wind would have carried him to land even without pulling. On the way he picked up a life buoy on which was painted the name "Emma Bradley." Paul fixed the name of the vessel that had collided with the Arago. As he proceeded he saw wreckage and convinced him that the Emma Bradley had gone down.

He reached a beach on which the breakers were rolling, and, not being skilled at beaching, his boat was upset, and he was thrown up on to the sand by the waves. He found the shore covered with boxes and bales that he had painted, and as the region was thickly populated many people had collected to appropriate their contents. Near by was a telegraph office, from which he sent a message directed to Greenaway & Co., makers of Greenaway's soap, giving an account of the collision. His message, the first and only one about the accident sent for weeks, was published as it was received, and Greenaway soap was mentioned from one end of the country to the other.

That stroke of genius made Paul Greenaway a member of the firm of Greenaway & Co. He married his sweetheart and became a millionaire.

THE LAWING CHAP.

We have in mind a fellow who is everlastingly at law about something or other. Part of the time it is because he fancies he has been wronged in some way by those with whom he has had dealings, while the rest of the time he is a defendant in suits brought by his fellows who feel that he has been an offender in an attempt to get what did not belong to him. While seemingly a strong believer in the law as a corrective of the ills from which

PASTEURIZING MILK.

Simple and Convenient Method of Doing It at Home.

Milk is most conveniently pasteurized in the bottles in which it is delivered. To do this use a small pail with a perforated false bottom. An inverted pie tin with a few holes punched in it will answer the purpose. This will raise the bottles from the bottom of the pail, thus allowing a free circulation of water and preventing bumping of the bottles. Punch a hole through the cap of one of the bottles and insert a thermometer. The ordinary floating type of thermometer is likely to be inaccurate, so if possible a good thermometer with the scale etched on the glass should be used.

Set the bottles of milk in the pail and fill the pail with water nearly to the level of the milk. Put the pail on the stove or over a gas flame and heat it until the thermometer in the milk shows not less than 150 degrees or more than 155 degrees F. The bottles should then be removed from the water and allowed to stand from twenty to thirty minutes. The temperature will fall slowly, but may be held more uniformly by covering the bottles with a towel. The punctured cap should be replaced with a new one or the bottle should be covered with an inverted cap. After the milk has been held as directed it should be cooled. To avoid danger of breaking the bottle the water should be warm at first. Replace the warm water slowly with cold water. After cooling milk should in all cases be held at the lowest available temperature.

DOGS' BAD HABITS.

How to Break Them by the Persistent Use of the Lead.

Dogs are very useful animals on the farm, especially where there are sheep. Collies are about the best breed to be used for driving sheep, and if properly and thoroughly trained when young they can be made to drive cows as well as any hired man. One thing that troubles many farmers is the bad habits acquired by dogs. One of the worst of these habits is that of rushing at vehicles and barking furiously. It is, unfortunately, one of the most difficult to cure, and it is only by stern measures that anything in the way of improvement can be made. The collie is one of the greatest offenders in this way. One of the best means found to cure him of this habit is to provide a lead, and whenever the dog starts attach the lead to his collar, thereby letting him know that he is being disciplined.

Another habit which is almost as bad is the persistent way a dog, on being let loose, will rush up to people, barking furiously. Many accidents have been caused in this way and old people as well as young frightened. To prevent this the only thing to do is to insist upon the dog being put on a lead before he is let loose. If this is persisted in it will in time break him of the habit.

THE FEEDER

To make the mash properly the bran should be stirred in the boiling water, just as our mothers made cornmeal mush.

Feed Rack Easily Constructed. A good rack handy for feeding sheep can be made by any one handy with tools. It will soon save its cost in the economy with which one can feed.

Do Not Overfeed Sows. Sows overfed or made extra fat with an extravagant allowance of corn will not breed so surely as if their systems are in a cooler and less feverish condition.

Separate Cattle From Sheep. Sheep graze closer than cattle and therefore should not be crowded into the same lot with them. They chew off the grass so short that the cattle cannot get a good nibble.

Necessity For Feeding Shed. Generally speaking, it is probable that anywhere in the corn belt fattening steers are nine-tenths of the time as well off in an ordinary yard as they would be anywhere else, but one-tenth of the time a shed is absolutely essential.

Salt For the Stock. Salt is necessary to the health and thrift of the domestic animals, and they should have it in winter as well as in summer. They need more of it probably during the period of abundant succulent feed, but the animal system requires more or less of it all the time. A good plan is to keep salt in sheltered boxes where the stock can get at it at will. This is a safeguard against neglect, and being accustomed to it at pleasure, there is no danger that too much will be taken.

folks suffer and a generous contributor toward the maintenance of its machinery, he now and then is hauled into court for open violation of the statutes. It goes without saying that this chap is a mighty disagreeable person to get along with, his rating as a man being away below par in the family as well as in the community in which he lives. He makes rich plucking for the lawyers, who are the only ones who are the gainers from the squabbles and suits in which he becomes involved.

MANEUVERS COME TO GETTYSBURG

Official Announcement that Gettysburg is Chosen. Only proviso is that Land be Given at Reasonable Price. This is Assured.

The doubt of securing the six weeks' maneuvers at Gettysburg this summer, which has been felt the past few weeks, has been dispelled by the announcement from Washington that the big military event will come here provided satisfactory rates can be secured for the camp site. It is believed these can be obtained.

Following the announcement several weeks ago that Gettysburg had been chosen, came the news that the Regular Army officers objected to camping here at the same time as the State Guard encampment which, it is generally conceded, will come to Gettysburg this summer. The matter was at once taken up by the Retail Merchants' Association who took this phase and other hindrances in hand and after a great deal of expense, of time and labor their efforts have been brought to a successful issue.

Committees and individual representatives of the association were at once dispatched to interview those in whose hands the matter rested and the success of their efforts is most gratifying. Competing with Gettysburg were Mount Gretna, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland, and a number of other sites and, without the energetic work of the local organization, Gettysburg would undoubtedly have lost the big attraction.

What the maneuvers will mean to Gettysburg was fully explained in these columns several weeks ago at the time the first announcement was made that the camp was to come here.

SECURING LAND

This week committees have been busy securing releases to the land to be used for military maneuvers and up to this time about eleven thousand acres have been granted. In only a few instances have land owners refused to allow their farms to be used for this purpose. The Government will pay all damages resulting from the mimic warfare which is to be held.

The securing of the camp site for the Regulars and National Guards of the Middle Atlantic States is now confronting the local committees as the Army officers have stated that the first prices asked were excessive and it will be necessary to secure decided reductions from those whose land is desired for the camp site proper. This is to occupy about 400 acres.

General confidence is expressed that, in addition to the six weeks' maneuver camp, the regular division encampment of the National Guard of Pennsylvania will also be here this summer. This week officers of the Guards have been in Gettysburg attending to contracts for the laying of pipes, getting leases of land and paying the farmers for maneuver damage of the last encampment. As a further indication that the encampment will come here the Philadelphia and Reading railroad has been instructed to go ahead with the matter of laying the necessary sidings.

With the Golden Eagles' convention opening the season early in May, the big Pennsylvania monument dedication late in September, and all the military events in mid summer Gettysburg has busy times ahead.

JUNIOR PROM

The annual dance given by the Junior class of college for the Seniors was held Friday evening in the dining room of the Eagle Hotel. The affair was largely attended by members of the two classes and there were a number of guests from out of town in addition to those from Gettysburg. The patronesses were, Mrs. Charles S. Duncan, Mrs. William Arch McClean, Mrs. Andrew Potts, Mrs. H. T. Weaver, Mrs. D. A. Skelly, Mrs. William Hersb, Mrs. J. H. Huber, Mrs. J. R. Dickson, Mrs. W. C. Sheely, Mrs. Paul A. Martin. The music was furnished by the Germania Orchestra of Carlisle.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Bucher, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller, Maude Taylor, Lucretia Andrew, Lula Hoffman, Ella Klepper, Nettie Trostel, Edna Hartman, Elizabeth Sheely, Blanche Bushey, Nellie Taylor, Edna Miller, Edna Culp, Stella Trostel, Eva Trostel, Gilbert and Earl Miller.

Refreshments were served and all returned home wishing the bride and groom a long and prosperous life.

MERCHANTS WANT OILED STREETS

Retail Merchants Take Action Looking toward Oiling of the Town Highways. Want Roads into Town Improved.

At a meeting of the Gettysburg Retail Merchants' Association held Friday evening a committee was authorized whose duty it shall be to ascertain the cost of oiling the town streets and to take up the feasibility of the plan with the Town Council.

It was pointed out that during the coming Summer there will be an unusual drain upon the source of supply of the Gettysburg Water Company and that if the usual amount used for sprinkling can be saved it will be a great advantage in the event of a drought. It was also said that National Guard authorities desired that something be done to keep down the dust on the Emmitsburg Road during the State encampment, which is expected to be announced within the next few days for Gettysburg. No action was taken on this latter matter, however.

CONVENTIONS

The question of securing conventions for 1917 received considerable attention at the hands of Gettysburg's business men. It is said that the State conventions of a number of beneficial lodges may be secured for next year as well as those of other organizations and the executive committee was instructed to take up these matters for action. An effort will be made to secure as many as possible of the meetings.

WANT ROADS IMPROVED

The attention of the association was called to the bad condition of the roads entering Gettysburg. Special mention was made of the York pike and the hindrance it proves to a large automobile traffic to the town. It was felt by the members of the association that active steps at putting this road in good condition could be advanced in the near future. The townships through which it runs will have about $5000 available for road purposes this year, it is believed Gettysburg motorists would contribute to the project, and it was stated that local business people who benefit by the visits of motorists to Gettysburg would contribute to make this approach more passable.

It was said at the merchants' meeting that Gettysburg automobile men had been talking for some time of endeavoring to have the York pike made better. The following committee was appointed to have the matter in charge, Thomas J. Winebrenner, John W. Brehm, John D. Keith, Howard C. Hartley and W. Laverne Hafer.

OTHER MATTERS

The matter of securing more industries for Gettysburg was placed in the hands of the executive committee. This action followed a discussion on past efforts to secure such plants.

It was decided that a letter be written to those financing the cyclorama proposition, asking that they bring the exhibit to Gettysburg and place it here permanently, as is proposed.

The officers of the association were authorized to send a letter to Congressman Lafean expressing their appreciation of his valued services in the matter of securing the maneuvers for Gettysburg.

FIRE DESTROYS LARGE TRESTLE

Large Portion of Long Tom's Creek Trestle, West of Maria Furnace Destroyed in Early Morning Fire. Traffic Delayed.

Seventy five feet of the Tom's Creek trestle, west of Maria Furnace was burned about three o'clock this morning in a fire supposed to have been started by coals from the engine of a passing freight. It was necessary to transfer passengers around the scene of the fire and traffic on the Western Maryland was somewhat delayed.

The trestle is located right at the foot of the mountain and is part of what is known as the "Horse Shoe Bend." It is the largest trestle on this division of the railroad.

Situated as it is at the foot of the steep grade and forming a rather sharp curve, the trestle has been the scene of a number of more or less serious wrecks. Several years ago these were more frequent than recently, one of the worst mishaps of that time taking place when fifteen loaded coal cars jumped the tracks.

Work was started at once at rebuilding the structure.

MOULIN ROUGE GIRLS

BIG BURLESQUE CO.

The big beauty show is the way the "Moulin Rouge Girls" are billed and when they appear at the Walter Theatre, Wednesday, April 13, they will endeavor to prove their claim to the same. 25 people comprise the Co. Of course there are a few comical comedians to entertain between the many bright singing and dancing numbers beautifully costumed. Two up-to-the-minute burlettas, entitled "Beauty and the Beast" and "After!" also several Parisian novelties, never seen outside of Paris before, and Mlle. Aida, the famous Queen of Dancers and a host of others.

A well known society young man in an eastern city recently shocked one of his lady friends by his ignorance of history. It was after a dinner party at his house, and she was telling him what she had learned in her private history class. One thing led to another, and all the time he was getting into deeper water. At last she surprised him by inquiring, "Now, tell me, Mr. —, what are the Knights of the Bath?" He stammered for a while and finally blurted out, "Why, Saturday night, I suppose."

THOMAS F. WALSH.

Millionaire Mine Owner Dies
In Washington.

THOMAS F. WALSH DEAD

Multi-Millionaire Dies After an Illness of Six Months.

Washington, April 9.—Thomas F. Walsh, the Colorado mine owner, died at his home here. Mr. Walsh had been ill for more than six months with heart trouble that followed an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Walsh, her daughter, Mrs. Ed ward McLean, and Edward McLean were at his bedside when the end came.

Mr. Walsh's wealth has been variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $40,000,000. His daughter married Edward McLean, a son of John R. McLean, the publisher. Mr. Walsh was a friend of the late King Leopold of Belgium, and at the time of the king's death was one of the few men in this country to come forward with a statement in his behalf.

30 OLD RUGS BRING
$338,900 AT AUCTION

One Persian Silk Carpet Sold
For $35,300.

New York, April 9.—Thirty rugs in the magnificent collection of the late Charles T. Yerkes were sold for a total of $338,900. This was at an average per rug of $11,296. As far as known, all the rugs will remain in this country. The bidding was almost as keen as at the sale of paintings, at which record prices have been established.

While the prices brought by the rugs were not record-breaking, they were on the whole good and it may be said in partial explanation of the fact that they were not higher that many of the rugs have been pretty badly used. Some of the finer ones among them would have brought better prices if their condition had been up to the mark demanded by the more exacting collectors.

The highest price was paid for the silk carpet from the Andebl Mosque, which was knocked down at $35,300. The great mosque carpet from Ardebil, on the other hand, for which it is said Mr. Yerkes gave up about $50,000, fell at $27,000. The forty-foot Persian state carpets went to Seligman for $33,000.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLS WIFE

Harrisburg, Pa., Man Thought He Was Shooting at a Burglar.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 9.—Mrs. Catharine Bomgardner, wife of a plumber, was shot by her husband, John W. Bomgardner, in mistake for a burglar at their home in this city. She died a few hours afterwards.

The Bomgardners live in the central part of the city. As there have been some attempts at robbery reported recently, Mr. Bomgardner placed a revolver under his pillow several nights ago.

Before daylight Mrs. Bomgardner, who had been ill, arose to get some medicine. This aroused her husband, who, seeing her moving about the room, opened fire. One bullet struck her in the side, causing a wound that resulted in her death.

A coroner's jury gave a verdict of accidental shooting.

BALLINGER TO PRODUCE PAPERS

Committee Orders Him to Send Those Called For.

DEMANDS "ALL DUE SPEED"

Witness Tells of Missing Letters From Official Files That Were Found Among Glavis' Belongings.

Washington, April 9.—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger was ordered to produce with "all due speed" all papers called for by the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee. This action was taken by the committee on the resumption of its hearings in the face of the protest by Mr. Ballinger that the requests of the "prosecution" were unreasonable. The decision was based on a vigorous complaint by Louis D. Brandeis, attorney for Louis R. Glavis, the deposed field agent of the land office.

Mr. Brandeis complained of the delay of the interior department in producing papers asked for and he asked that instructions be issued for their production at once.

Attacks Ballinger's Position. Mr. Brandeis then attacked the position of Secretary Ballinger, which he characterized as a "remarkable reversal of ideas."

He said that at first the secretary did not even want counsel, "lest it hinder the committee in its search for the truth." Afterward he employed counsel and now is protesting against the production of papers.

Mr. Vretees declared that counsel for the prosecution was "fishing," because the main case put in against Ballinger "had failed in all its parts."

"Fishing," remarked Representative Ollie James, amid laughter, "don't hunt nothing unless you catch something."

The discussion was ended by the adoption of a motion calling upon the secretary of the interior to produce all papers called for by the committee with "all due speed."

Papers Taken by Glavis. Andrew Christensen, chief of field division of the land office, who succeeded Glavis at Seattle after his dismissal, was then called, and he told of trouble he had with Glavis over official papers in the Seattle office.

Glavis took a bundle of papers with him and declined to let Christensen see them until he had made copies. Christensen said he made a demand in writing upon Glavis, saying that as he was no longer in government service he had no right to the papers.

Glavis returned some papers, but witness said he found that twenty-four letters were missing from the files.

These letters were later found, it is said, in a box belonging to Glavis. Christensen read at length copies of letters and telegrams between him and the department regarding these letters.

Mr. Vretees apologized for inflicting this correspondence upon the committee, but said it was necessary in view of the intimation that Christensen had "framed up" something against Glavis.

CABINET RUMORS DENIED

No Changes in Taft's Official House-hold, Say Secretaries.

Washington, April 9.—Rumors of changes and resignations in the Taft cabinet, which sprang suddenly from sources undiscoverable and spread until they reached the ears of the president himself, were as suddenly laid to rest when the cabinet met in the White House.

"Hello!" said the president, as the members of his official household filed to their places, "have any of you fellows resigned?"

The answer was a laughing negative. Later Secretaries Knox and MacVeagh, about whose contemplated resignations the rumors centered, authorized specific denials of the reports.

Secretary Knox said: "Make my denial of the rumors as strong and comprehensive as you like."

Secretary MacVeagh, reported as intending to leave the post at the head of the treasury department vacant, as well as that of the department of state, said:

"I have no intention of retiring from President Taft's cabinet. I do not know the source of the rumors which are being circulated in the public press, but they are entirely without foundation."

QUICK RELIEF OF ITCHING ECZEMA

Was Surprising—Inflammation Reduced in a Few Hours and Cure Soon Followed—Boy's Torture Had Been Intense for Years—Friend's Child had Eczema, Too.

MOTHER TELLS HOW CUTICURA CURED BOTH

"When my boy was six years old, he suffered terribly with eczema. He could neither sit still nor lie quietly in bed, for the itching was dreadful. It would irritate spots by scratching with his nails and that only made them worse. A doctor treated him and we tried almost everything, but the eczema seemed to spread. It started in a small place on the lower extremities and spread for two years until it very nearly covered the back part of his leg to the knee. Finally I got Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills and gave them according to directions. I used them in the morning and that evening, before I put my boy to bed. I used them again and the improvement even in those few hours was surprising. The inflammation seemed to be so much less. I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, the same of the Pills and the Soap and my boy was cured. My son is now in his seventeenth year and he has never had a return of the eczema. I took care of a friend's child that had eczema on his face and limbs and I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They acted on the child just as they did on my son and he has never returned. I would recommend the Cuticura Remedies to anyone. Mr. A. J. Cochran, 1923 Columbia Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20, 1909."

Five Years

of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY,

Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

PILES BRING DESPAIR

Take Cough Internal Treatment will Cure

Piles make life unhappy and ruin the best disposition. Most sufferers have been bitterly disappointed by many failures to find a cure. A medicine in tablet form, taken internally, that avoids the unpleasant features of ointments, suppositories and operations, and cures thoroughly by removing the INSIDE cause, is surely worth trying, especially as The People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa., guarantees it.

FINDS "STOLEN" BOY

Mother Meets Him on Street and Believes He Wrote Kidnappers' Letter. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 9.—Elmer Cole, the Dunmore twelve-year-old boy, whose parents received a postal card saying that if they wanted to see him alive they must send $1000 to Herman Schultze, of this city, is back with his parents at their home. He was found in this city by his mother, who came here with some friends to aid the police in searching for him.

He says that he was kidnapped from Dunmore by two big men, brought to this city and locked up in some dark room. He cannot tell where. He adds that he managed to escape and had been wandering about the city since then. But his mother says "that he had been reading novels with kidnapping plots and that she believes he has invented the story and that he also wrote the alleged kidnappers' letter."

CONFINED NAKED IN CELLS

Richmond, Va., April 9.—Fred Cunningham, alias Eddie Fay, and Frank Chester, alias Little Dick Harris, arrested in New York, charged with having rifled the cashier's safe of the Richmond postoffice, were safely lodged in jail here by their heavy guard of postoffice inspectors.

Such great care is being taken to prevent their escape that they were stripped and bathed and placed naked in their cells. "They won't try any silk thread and emery dust work on my bars," said the jailer.

MULE WON RACE AGAINST TRAIN

Ran Four Miles Down Track Ahead of Locomotive.

Port Jervis, N. Y., April 9.—A mule won a race against an Erie freight train at Hankins station. The animal had never seen cars before, and Henry Ebert, its owner, introduced the situation to the mule by driving to town as the freight was approaching. The mule, with Ebert astride, ran down the tracks ahead of the locomotive. Ebert thought to wind the beast before proceeding far, but the further the mule ran the more it seemed to have. The rider's wind, however, gave out on a curve as the sure-footed animal jumped a culvert and left its owner in a ditch. Parting company with its owner, the mule ran on until it reached Longsandy, four miles distant, where it left the track and was found browsing in a field.

STEAL GIRL'S HAIR

Kidnapped Child Returns Home in Boy's Clothing.

Bethlehem, Pa., April 9.—Pretty fifteen-year-old Louisa Welshamp returned to her home in a dazed condition, wearing boy's clothing and heavy shoes. There came to light a story of a kidnapping and the stealing from the girl of her beautiful long jet black tresses.

Louisa left in the early morning for the Saufoolt silk mill. She told the authorities she met a woman wearing a heavy black veil. The woman engaged her in conversation and after that she remembered nothing until she found herself in front of her parents' home, clothed as a boy and with her beautiful braid of hair missing.

$100, REWARD $100,

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have to state that it is the only cure for Catarrh that is not only safe, but also powerful. Send for list of testimonials to J. C. HENRY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

REINDICT LESLIE CHANGING DATE

Pittsburg Political Leader Again Accused of Bribery.

MANY BANKERS SCORED

Presentment of Grand Jury Says They Are Withholding Information in an Attempt to Shield Some One.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 9.—In its most sweeping presentment, the grand jury recommended the indictment of Max G. Leslie, county delinquent tax collector, for bribery, and in scathing terms denounced the bankers and other individuals who are withholding information.

No names, other than that of Leslie, are made public as being in the bribery plot. In his case it is stated the money was received from the Columbia National bank, June 3, 1908. In the former indictment against Leslie it was charged that this money was paid on June 6, and which date Leslie proved he was in New York.

The only new transaction brought to light is one in connection with the vacation of Home street. The jury charges that Charles Stewart was paid $10,000 by Samuel Heppenstall. It also states that an additional $2500 was given to Stewart by Charles Heppenstall for the same purpose.

Scores Bank Cashier.
The grand jury recommends a new investigation by the directors of the Second National bank and criticizes the manner in which Cashier J. M. Young of that institution testified before that body, declaring he attempted to shield some parties interested.

The matter of the payment by the Workingmen's Savings Bank and Trust company to Morris Einstein is gone into in detail, but no indictment is recommended since Emil Winter, president of that institution, and James M. Anderson, head bookkeeper, have already pleaded no contest to charges against them.

The report made by the directors of the Farmers' Deposit bank, on the subject of the payment of money to councilmen, is criticized by the grand jury. James M. Young, cashier of the Second National bank, is scored for his conduct throughout the transaction. He is charged with withholding information and equivocating when on the witness stand, and is also accused of giving away the secrets of the inquiry.

More Charges Against Young.

Openly and in secret, formal accusation is made by Foreman Harrison Nesbitt and his conferees, that Young is shielding F. N. Hoffstot, and that there is reason to believe some one connected with the Second National bank is responsible for this.

It is further charged that Young, after being before the grand jury, told what his testimony consisted of to C. W. Friend, and Friend in turn visited Hoffstot in New York and is supposed to have repeated the story to him in order to place him on his guard. The grand jury is certain that Young knows the name of the person to whom Hoffstot asked to have the $20,000 bribe money sent, but refuses to tell. The presentment charges that he told Friend that he had not divulged this information to the grand jury in order that Friend might tell Hoffstot.

May Withdraw Deposits.

The validity of the contracts under which the six banks now hold the city deposits is attacked by the inquisitorial body. The members of the grand jury call upon District Attorney Blakeley to take the proper steps to have these nullified if the proper city authorities do not take this step within a reasonable time.

Important in that it shows how the banks were induced to put up so large an amount of money for the boodle fund is the recommendation that 5 per cent be collected on the city deposits from these banks from and after this date. The city depository banks are now paying 2 per cent on city deposits, and it is alleged the agreement was that the councilmen were to get the difference for reducing the percentage.

Formed Crazy Club: Dies a Maniac.
Pottsville, Pa., April 9.—James Burkes, fifty-five years old, who several years ago organized the Schuylkill County Crazy society and became famous because he affixed the names of prominent men to its membership rolls, died here a maniac. Burkes possessed a brilliant intellect, but he gave so much attention to his queer society that it finally turned his brain. He said a crazy man was one with a bright and superior idea.

Halley's Comet Reappears.
San Jose, Cal., April 9.—Halley's comet was observed through the Lick telescope on Mount Hamilton about daylight, but only the head could be seen, as the tail was lost in the bright background of the rising sun. The comet will not be visible to the naked eye for several days.

MRS. HETTY GREEN.

Reported to Have Suffered a Nervous Collapse.

MRS. HETTY GREEN FEEBLE

Had to Be Assisted to Her Desk in Office After Week's Absence.

New York, April 9.—A very little business went a long way with Mrs. Hetty Green. For the first time in more than a week she was at her desk in the National Park bank. But within two hours she was back at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks, 440 Park avenue.

Mrs. Green seemed to be in anything but robust health. She leaned heavily upon her son's arm as she alighted from a taxicab, and seemed glad of the assistance of her daughter as well when she crossed the sidewalk to the bank. It was the first time Mrs. Green had ever gone to her office attended.

Colonel Green denied that his mother had been ill. He said she had been taking a "vacation," and scoffed at a question whether he was to take over the management of his mother's affairs. He said he would return to Texas within a few days.

ROOSEVELT IN GENOA DAY AHEAD OF TIME

Popular Greetings Forced Him to Quit "Honeymoon" Trip.

Genoa, April 9.—Former President and Mrs. Roosevelt arrived here from Spezia just twenty-four hours ahead of the time scheduled for the end of their second "honeymoon" trip.

They had intended to take the trip leisurely traversing the same route they followed nearly twenty-five years ago, but inability to hide their identity led to the change in plans. The plan had been for them to arrive here this evening, but at every village they visited large crowds were in waiting for them and gave them enthusiastic receptions.

Colonel Roosevelt had thought that he and his wife could travel incognito on this part of their progress through Europe at least, and had looked forward to avoiding anything like popular greetings. Descriptions of the distinguished American had preceded him and everywhere the people were out to cheer him.

The popular demonstrations along the road became so embarrassing that the Roosevelts decided to abandon the remainder of their scheduled route and come direct to Genoa.

BEVERIDGE ALL SMILES

Senator Returns to Capital and is Visited by the Insurgents.

Washington, April 9.—Fresh from his triumphs in the Indiana state convention, Senator Beveridge returned to the capitol. He found awaiting him an immense mail, in which were many letters of congratulation over the position taken by his convention on the tariff.

The senator was in a happy state of mind and wore a broad smile. He was at his committee room early in the day, and was there visited by all the "insurgent" senators. Their congratulations were heartily extended, and it was generally agreed that the convention proceedings would continue for some time to be the subject of comment throughout the country.

MEYER URGES ARMED PEACE

Secretary Pleads For More Warships.

NAVY BUILT STEEL TRADE

Declares Growth of Shipyards is Due to Government Work — Advocates Younger Officers and Thorough Preparation.

Philadelphia, April 9.—"To be strong armed for peace is a guarantee of peace; to be rich but weak is to invite aggression. We know that our people are peace-loving until trodden on and then they do not count the cost to win. How much better to make adequate preparation to secure peace at moderate cost! How short-sighted to spend enormous sums and valuable lives to restore peace after war has begun!"

In these words George von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy, concluded his address at the annual banquet of the Navy League of the United States, held at the Bellevue-Stratford.

Criticized Promotion System.

His speech was a plea for a greater navy as the surest guarantee of peace, and voiced a protest against a parsimonious policy. Incidentally Secretary Meyer criticized the present system of promotion in the navy, which he characterized as "absurd," instancing among its results that the average age of captains is fifty-five years and of admirals sixty and a half years. He spoke with praise of the proposed "personnel bill," designed to procure officers of advanced rank at a younger age. To our expanding navy Mr. Meyer gave credit for the enormous growth in this country's steel business, and for America's ability during the last twelve years to undersell the world in steel.

Charles Maguire, chairman of the league, presided. The speakers, in addition to Secretary Meyer, included Senator Penrose, Senator Oliver, Governor Stuart, Rear Admiral Sperry and Mayor Reuburn. Commander Peary attended for a short time prior to his departure from the city.

Secretary Meyer spoke in part as follows:

"Under the present absurd system of promotion the average of captains is fifty-five years and of rear admirals sixty and a half years. We are now serving training officers in command of battleships and armored cruisers, many of whom cannot serve as flag officers on account of the short time they have been on the active list after reaching that grade. The proposed personnel bill which was recommended by the board will promote the officers to the grade of rear admiral at the average age of fifty-four years and to the captain at the average age of about forty-six."

Steel Trade Due to Navy.

"The navy is largely responsible for the mammoth growth of the steel trade in this country. The shipyards of Bath, Me.; Quincy, Mass.; New York, Camden, Philadelphia, Newport News, Seattle and San Francisco owe their establishment and growth to the government work on the navy. "The year 1907 beheld America, for the first time, underselling the world in steel. This year we have had the proud distinction, in open competition with England, Germany, France and Italy, of having allotted to our shipbuilders construction and equipment for the Argentine government of two of the largest battleships that have been designed."

Taft Indorses Larger Navy.

The annual convention of the league, which is the first ever to be held outside of Washington, was opened with an afternoon session, at which a telegram from President Taft expressing his sympathy with the plans for a greater navy was read, as follows:

"I wish to express my sympathy with your organization and in its purpose to secure the continuance of a strong and efficient navy for the simple purpose of maintaining peace. Two battleships a year, until the Panama canal is completed, is my plan, and I hope you are in sympathy with this."

President Taft regretted that he was unable to attend the banquet of the organization.

Deny Shipyard Sale.

Norfolk, Va., April 9.—A statement issued by the Newport News Ship building and Dry Dock company denies that the plant has been sold to Charles M. Schwab. The company expects to erect a steel plant, and this gaverise to the report. The yard has work enough for 6000 men to last more than a year.

Fight Injuries Fatal.

Passaic, N. J., April 9.—Gilbert Trehou, the seventeen-year-old Passaic high school student who was knocked out in a seven round fight with Frank Keiser Tuesday, died in the Passaic General hospital. He never regained consciousness except for a few seconds. Keiser has not been seen since. Twenty-one men and boys have been arrested in connection with the fight.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

G. W. Weaver & Son
G. W. Weaver & Son

THE LEADERS

It gives us great pleasure to announce our Silver Anniversary, of beginning business in Gettysburg.

Just twenty-five years ago we opened up business here in a little E shaped room—28 x 38 the centre of the E almost cutting the room into two; this building being built for County Offices many years before.

We put forth certain aggressive methods which gave us a prestige from the start—and the little store soon became too small, so it was torn down and a larger and more modern one built. We then had more than twice the space with which we began, but in a few years that too became too small for our increasing business and an addition was made which more than doubled the size again, that in its turn became too small, and by the acquisition of property adjoining we again enlarged so that now we have the largest store in Adams county—doing more than double the business of any other. We therefore, INAUGURATE A SILVER ANNIVERSARY SALE to commemorate our achievements for the past, and as an earnest of what can be expected from us for the future.

Our stock, NOW LARGER in most lines than ever before, was contracted for at prices that will enable us to offer it at much UNDER PRESENT MARKET VALUES and beside—we are making many SPECIAL CUT PRICES on a great many articles all through the store.

THIS SALE BEGINS FRIDAY the 8th

and will continue during the next week. There will be Special Decorations and Souvenirs as well as Special Prices. The Citizen's Band will give a concert on Saturday night in the store.

We want everybody to come in and show their good will—whether they wish to buy or not.

THE CASE OF PETER STRIKER

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Peter Striker was the son of Farmer Striker, and up to the age of twenty he had a reputation of mowing more grass and cutting more corn than any other man, old or young, in the township of Dubois.

When a young man has reached the age of twenty-one he becomes his own boss. There are farmers yet who will not have it so, but will keep a son on until he simply gets up and declares his legal right. At twenty Peter asked his father for his time—that is, he wanted his legal rights a year ahead of time, as he had a chance to travel about the country with a lightning rod man. The father refused.

Peter sat down under the big pear tree at the corner of the house to think things over. As he thought he fell asleep, and as he slept a thundershower came up. Almost the first bolt struck the tree, and a few minutes later he was found with his boots burned off, his old silver watch melted and in an unconscious condition. The doctor who revived the young man told his father that the victim might never be able to work again and that he must have the best of care to keep him from the grave. As a matter of fact, the doctor was all wrong. Peter had got mixed up with a thunderbolt, but the damage, outside of the nervous shock, amounted to nothing. However, when the doctor's words were overheard it was a cue for Peter. He had been working hard, and here was his chance to loaf. For a month he had to be carried about.

Haying time arrived, and Peter was conveyed to the shade of a tree down by the meadow where he might watch the men at work and wish he were one of them. By and by three or four bumblebees that had been disturbed near by came along and hopped on to him. The pain of their stings jumped Peter to his feet and sent him running for ten rods before he remembered his helpless condition.

Then a doctor was called in. He felt of Peter's fatness and heard about his race with the bees, but instead of pronouncing him able to go into the hayfield and sweat his shirt, as he really was, it was diagnosed as a case where sudden excitement had revived the muscular action for a moment.

Corn planting had come round again, and the father was working in a field near the highway when a man came along pushing a cart before him. He was bound to the village, and in the cart was a big electric battery, such as fakers travel from town to town with. The man was halted, and the farmer climbed the fence to see all about the machine. After he had been given a shock free gratis he asked:

"The stuff in there is the same as lightning, ain't it?"

"Just about the same."

"It will shock a feller so he won't know anything?"

"It surely will. If I should turn on the full current you couldn't let go of the handles."

Then the father told about Peter being shocked, and when he had finished the man said:

"Electricity works two ways. One shock will cripple a man, and the next will restore him to his pristine vigor. What your son wants is another shock. If it cures you are to give me a dollar. If it doesn't you need not give me anything."

It was planned that Peter must be shocked, and the plan was carried out. He was sitting in a rocking chair on the veranda, and the faker and his machine were escorted there, and the father explained:

"Peter, you have been going back on corned beef for the last month, and here is something to sharpen your appetite. You take hold of these 'ere handles, and it's like taking a tonic. I took hold of them up the road, and I'm as hungry as a bear now."

"But the doctors all said my case mustn't be experimented with," protested Peter, who scented some trick. "Oh, this is no experiment! When a feller loses his appetite the doctors expect him to get it back the best way he can. I want to see you pitching into fried pork and taters tonight. Take right hold, my son."

Peter took hold, and the current was turned on full. He was frozen to the handles and yelled blue murder. After fifteen seconds it was turned off, and he jumped up and threw the faker and his machine off the veranda and heaved the father after them. Then, without a word, he grabbed a hoe and started for the cornfield. In three hours he did more work than his father had done all day, and it was reckoned that he sweat off ten pounds of fat. He acknowledged that he was as good as new. After supper he milked four cows, fed the hogs and carried in the wood for breakfast. At midnight he got up to go to work again. He couldn't sit still for a moment. He worked and sweat and sweat and worked, and at the end of two weeks, there being no more pressing work on hand, he tried to carry the smokehouse to a new site on his back and collapsed and died. The first shock had made him lazy, and the second had made him too great a hustler.

"What you should have done," said the first doctor to the father when told of the case, "was to sit him down in the middle of a pasture with a bull in it. In running for the fence the shock would have come on gradually instead of suddenly, and he would have been hoeing that corn and whistling hymn tunes a month from today."

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

You mustn't take it so much to heart when you lose a chick. There are millions and millions die every year, and if a rear was shed for every dead one all that survived might get drowned.

An editor dreamed that some one had tied a plump turkey to the door-knob. The dream was so vivid that he went to the door, and, lo, there stood the postman, who handed him a letter in which was a bill. The editor had sent this bill to a delinquent subscriber, and he had the postmaster return it to the editor unopened. It wasn't your bill, was it?

A fancier in his catalogue advised those who wash birds to give them a drink of whisky when through the operation. He was likely drunk when he gave such advice, for no man would do it who could think twice.

Now, be sure to scrape all filth out of the yards, and get all old litter away so the hens can't scratch in it, and keep those brooder chicks away from the old stock or they'll get lice and scaly leg.

If you do not wish to punch the chicks' foot web until they are older, mark the little chaps with carmine ink. It will stay on for months and improve the landscape.

If your chickens have the run of the potato patch they will dig and eat the tubers. This would save you work in the fall, of course, but fowls take the potatoes and tell the stalks stand and you'll be wondering why your crop's a failure.

For Pekin ducks the swinging laugh that is on the market is best. They can't get into it or upset it, and if used for water they can't swim in it.

To get a good appetite go and watch a lot of hungry ducks shovel down grub. They will remind you of the rush at a governor's reception, where a cracker, a spoonful of ice cream and a thimbleful of sour lemon are given away.

The turkey poult that shows no sign of sickness at night and is found dead under the old hen next morning likely has something in its crop you ought to see so that you may save the rest from going the same way.

F. W. Burris of Jasonville, Ill., raised a fowl that is half guinea and half chicken. Such fowls will be popular with restaurant keepers who serve canvasback (guinea) and tender fry on the same day, though not very good for a window display.

Home Course In Domestic Science

VI.—Cuts of Meat and How to Cook Them.

By EDITH G. CHARLTON.

In Charge of Domestic Economy Iowa State College.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

MEAT is one of the chief tissue building foods. It is also one of the foods most commonly found on the average table.

No matter how high the price soars, it is demanded at least once a day as the principal dish in the bill of fare of the average American family. Until recent years it was considered almost essential to life and was the last food to be sacrificed if a change in the diet was recommended for reasons of health. At the present time people are gradually finding out that meat is not a necessity in any bill of fare. They are learning there are other foods which contain quite as much of the tissue building properties, and cheese, beans, eggs and nuts are substituted for the meat dish. Still, beef, lamb, pork, fish, poultry and game continue to be favorite foods in many homes, and one or more of the number is prepared for the table every day.

Universally used as it is, meat of all kinds is the food most often spoiled in the cooking, or, to make the statement a little more specific, it is the food material in which the scientific principles of cooking should be and are not most carefully observed.

Composition of Meat.

Meat is composed of bundles of muscle fibers bound together by a filmy substance called connective tissue. There are also in all kinds of meat more or less fat, water and mineral matter, besides the bone, sinew, blood and skin. Albumen, a substance similar to the white of egg, is found in the blood and muscle, and this is the principal protein of meat. The extractive, or the flavor of meat, is also one of its valuable properties. It is the extractives which give some kinds of meat, beef, especially, a stimulating value, and they also aid in the digestion of the muscle fibers. The amount of tissue building material, or protein, averages from 10 to 20 per cent in different kinds of meat, and the fat varies considerably, from 6 to 60 per cent, according to the animal and the cut. Uncooked meat contains a large amount of water, usually more than 50 per cent.

Meat is cooked to make it more palatable, to develop its flavor and to kill any germs which it may contain. Unless very carefully done cooking meat makes it less easy of digestion. Raw beef finely chopped will leave the stomach in from two and one-half to three hours, while meat cooked after the common method will require from two to three hours longer. When meat is properly cooked the muscle fibers will be softened and the connective tissue and albumen will be only slightly hardened. Boiling meat toughens the muscle fibers and hardens the albumen. In this, then, lies the secret of the proper cooking of any kind of meat. It should always be accomplished with a moderate temperature, below boiling point for stews, fricasees, pot roast, etc.

One fact should ever be kept in mind when buying meat and preparing it for the table. This is that it is not necessarily the most expensive cuts of meats which are either the best flavored or most nutritious. It is a mistake, common to both experienced and inexperienced cooks, to suppose that when a really delicious piece of meat is desired it must be cut from the porterhouse or sirloin. To be sure, in many minds, there is no meat quite so appetizing as a porterhouse steak, but even that expensive and naturally toothsome cut can be absolutely spoiled in the cooking. Equally true is it that a piece cut from the shoulder or the flank can be prepared and cooked in such a way that it will be a dish for the gods and will be relished by even the epicure who usually casts his vote in favor of "T" bone and tenderloin steaks.

Different Cuts of Meat.

A practical knowledge of the usual method of cutting beef, also of the length and structure of the muscle fibers, is almost necessary in order to insure getting the best pieces of meat and to determine how they should be cooked. By the best pieces one generally means those pieces having the least bone and the tenderest, juiciest meat. The woman who seldom if ever visits the meat market, who invariably gives her meat orders by telephone, is not as likely to get a choice roast or a particularly good steak as is the woman who, knowing where these cuts are located, goes to the market and

Pasturing the Horse.

It is very dangerous to turn a horse wholly accustomed to dry food into a pasture of lush grass. The sudden change to green food will most likely cause a rapid fermentation in the stomach and bowels. Turn the horse upon a short pasture, where he must gather his grass very slowly. His stomach will then gradually become used to the change, and he will come out all right.

makes her own selection. It is not an easy matter to sell poor meat to the woman who knows almost as well as the butcher himself the difference in the amount of bone in various cuts of meat. It is a simple matter to become familiar with the character of the different kinds of meat and their location in the carcass, and it is a subject which every woman should understand.

The highest priced and tenderest pieces of beef are cut from the hind quarter. Custom is so strong in its preference that beef animals are bred with a view to having as much meat and as small bones in the loin as possible. The largest amount of nutriment is obtained from some of the fore quarter pieces. In dividing the side of beef into fore and hind quarters the division is generally made leaving one rib on the hind quarter.

The sirloin and rump roast, loin, porterhouse and round steaks, the flank or skirt piece and the flank are in the hind quarter. The rib roasts, chuck, short ribs, clod or forequarter, plate piece, including the navel, the neck and shin, are located in the fore quarter. Most of these pieces can be cut into smaller portions, and the quantity of bone which these several parts contain generally determines which is the best to buy. Of course animals must have bone, and the butcher must see to it that some one buys the bone if he expects to make a good profit. But we are always willing to leave the inferior parts—the big bones—to the customer who does not know any better.

In selecting a rib roast always ask for at least the first three ribs from the whole fore quarter. The first five ribs make a satisfactory roast for a large family. Cutting nearer the shoulder, the muscle fibers are coarser and the meat not as suitable for roasting. The rib roast may have the bones left in it and be cooked as a standing roast, or the ribs may be cut out and the meat rolled, with center filled with a bit of suet. The first method probably has a little better flavor; the second or rolled roast is more easily carved.

The first chuck piece generally sells for a few cents less per pound than the ribs and makes a very good roast if it is carefully prepared and cooked rather slowly. The second and remaining chuck pieces are better for pot than oven roasting. The clod piece contains joint and bone of the forearm. It is often cut into three parts. The second or middle piece, containing the smaller amount of bone, is preferable.

The rump piece, with hip joint removed and the cavity filled with suet, makes an excellent roasting piece. It is very lean, the muscles closely knit, and unless the bone is taken out and some extra fat added the meat is likely to be dry.

The tenderloin is a solid piece of lean meat, juicy and of the grain and flavor. It is located in the loin, just under the backbone, and is thickest in the center of the loin. Because it has no waste and is unusually tender it is sometimes sold in a separate piece and prepared as a fillet of beef or broiled for steak. But such tenderloin is seldom if ever taken from first quality beef, because when it has been removed the value of the remaining steaks is considerably lessened. Therefore the choicest steak is usually the fourth or fifth porterhouse, containing a good portion of the tenderloin. Select a sirloin steak that has been cut as far into the loin as possible. This gives a good sized piece of tenderloin as well as a large middle piece with short muscles.

Methods of Cooking Meat.

Eight methods are generally employed in cooking meats. These are broiling, roasting, stewing, boiling, frying, sauteing, fricasseeing, a combination of sauteing and stewing, and braising, a combination of frying and baking. The various methods represent cooking in moist heat on top of the range or cooking in dry heat in the oven or broiler. The principle underlying all the methods is the same. It is to begin the cooking of the meat at a high temperature in order to sear over the cut muscle ends to keep the juices in the meat and then to cook at a lower temperature that the muscle fibers and connective tissue may be hardened as little as possible.

For a roast of beef choose either the first three ribs, a cut from the sirloin or the rump piece. After preparing the roast for the oven wipe it with a cloth wet with cold water. Do not put the meat in a dish of water to wash it. Put the meat into a dripping pan, or, better, a self basting roaster, sprinkle it with a little pepper and dredge lightly with flour if desired. But do not put water in the pan nor sprinkle the meat with salt, because both extract the flavor of the meat, and the salt draws out the juice. The oven should be very hot, about 350 degrees, hot enough to sear the meat on all sides in ten or fifteen minutes. If desired the searing may be done on top of the stove directly over the fire. After the meat is well seared the temperature should be lowered and the meat allowed to cook more slowly until it is done, about fifteen minutes for each pound. If a dripping pan is used the meat will require basting several times during the first hour. For this melt some butter or some good, fresh "drippings" in hot water, remove the pan from the oven and baste thoroughly. Do not pour water over the meat nor baste with clear fat. After two or three times there will be enough fat in the pan for subsequent basting. Salt may be added during the last half hour of roasting or after the meat has been well seared. To be quite satisfactory a roast should weigh at least five pounds. Less than that the piece will be so small that by the time it has been seared on all sides there will be very little center portion.

To Save Horses' Legs and Feet.

Careful attention to the legs and feet of the horse during the muddy spring months will save much trouble and labor. If the mud is carefully cleaned from the legs and feet after each drive in muddy weather the labor will be found to be much less and results more satisfactory than will the treatment of a case of scratches later on.

One other day we came a new case of a breeder of blooded horses and cattle who, it is said, does not sell a positive infirmity financially because he does not have his animals at even fair condition at sale time. We heartily commend in any breeder the practice of not pampering or over feeding animals that are to be offered for sale, but there is a happy and entirely commendable medium that lies between these two—namely, the giving of the blooded stock that care from day to day which will enable them to make a good showing at sale time and which will at the same time give their owner the return to which he is justly entitled.
